CFPAC co-develops, facilitates, advocates, and implements policies to advance food justice & sovereignty in Chicago and across Illinois.

We define food sovereignty as the right for Chicagoans, particularly BIPOC residents, to produce and access sustainable, culturally appropriate, healthy, local, fair, and humane food.

CFPAC Board Members & Staff with partners from Chi & Cook Depts of Public Health
● Inspired by early impact of GFPP in Los Angeles
● Built off of existing work in City & County to incorporate local, healthy, and sustainable foods
● January 2015: Introduced GFPP as a priority during the Chicago Food Policy Summit; collected organizational signatories & garnered support from mayoral candidates
● June 2016: Engaged Chicago Mayor’s Office to organize Good Food Task Force comprised of departments & agencies; helped build buy-in & trust
LOCAL GFPP ADOPTION

- June 2017 - Chicago Public Schools adopts Wellness Policy that commits to GFPP
- September 2017 - Chicago Park District adopts GFPP
- October 2017 – City of Chicago passes resolution to adopt GFPP
- May 2018 – Cook County adopts GFPP resolution

GOOD FOOD PURCHASING INITIATIVE

Recognition that GFPP implementation alone won’t create desired impacts
GFPI KEY OBJECTIVES

- Full GFPP implementation in City of Chicago & Cook County public depts/agencies
- Foster a racially and socially equitable food system to meet increased good food demand
- Advance a values-based procurement culture that supports demand & availability of good food
• Walk public depts & agencies through GFPP implementation
• Organize quarterly Good Food Task Force meetings
• Insert language into RFPs and contracts
• Outreach & training to local producers & food businesses w/ focus on BIPOC-owned firms
• Broader engagement of anchor institutions in Chicago region around good food purchasing
• Public stakeholder engagement

EX: CHICAGO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

- Integrated GFPP into Wellness Policy
- Put out RFP for new food service mgmt company with GFPP language
- Conducted first baseline food purchasing assessment in 2017
- Following action plan to achieve one star by 2020:
  - Increasing local food spend
  - Antibiotic-free chicken drumsticks from IN
  - Shifting to all compostable trays & cutlery
  - Working on contacting suppliers with reported labor violations
  - Moving to Meatless Mondays
EX: CHICAGO PARK DISTRICT

- Integrated GFPP into Wellness Policy
- Collected data for Summer Meal Program from Open Kitchens in 2018
- Baseline assessment completed in fall 2019

EX: COOK COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE

● ~8.7M contracts for county jails food service, vending, & commissary, + Recipe for Change & community programming
● Collected contract and programmatic information (>7.2M meals/yr)
● CCSO in process of working with food service mgmt (CBM Premier) to request purchasing data from suppliers
• Critical role of ongoing support & coordination
• Food system won’t shift overnight; slow & iterative process
• Moving from “lowest-bidder” to values-based procurement is a paradigm shift
• Transparency is integral to change & difficult to achieve
• Need to build readiness & capacity for BIPOC food producers to meet GFPP demand; access/control of land & capital are key
